The Honorable Robert A. Ferri
City Council President

Honorable Members
Central Falls City Council

Dear President Ferri and Honorable Members of the City Council:

When I first ran for office and spoke with thousands of our neighbors across our city, I heard over and over that we could be better – our services could be more accessible, our streets could be safer, and our city could become the best community in Rhode Island for helping all families thrive. I committed to making these a reality, and three years later, we've made huge progress.

Our Administration has worked tirelessly to ensure that the Central Falls of today works for every person that lives, works, and visits here. And moreover, that the Central Falls of tomorrow excels our economy and our future generations. It's no surprise we've been recognized on local and national levels for our work over the last year – from our boots-on-the-ground effort to making our city healthier, to creative new housing solutions, to unique opportunities that empower our youth. And we're still going!

Using this momentum, I am proud to present you with a balanced, proposed FY2024 budget that meets the current needs of our city and lays the foundation for successful years ahead. This budget not only supports our necessary operations, services, and programs, but it complements key federal and staff dollars and grants we've proudly won that bring our beautiful vision for Central Falls to life.

Housing is Happening

With the darkest days of COVID-19 behind us, one of the greatest issues exasperated during the pandemic remains: our housing crisis. After our Housing Summit, I committed to adding 200 new units of housing during my first term as mayor, and as one of the top 30 densest cities in the United States, we need to get creative to reach this bold goal. This summer, our new single-family homes on Washington and Hood Street built by local Building Futures students will be completed and sold to city residents, along with nine new townhomes on Chestnut Street that this budget invests in. Central Falls residents will have exclusive access to purchase these homes. Looking ahead, we're also gearing up for the groundbreaking of our 47-unit Broad Street Homes project, 100 units on Roosevelt Avenue, 31 units at the old Broad Street School, our new five-unit Reed Avenue townhouse project, and completing the master plan for our mixed-use Conant Thread mill buildings. Housing is happening here!

Of course, we're not just focused on building new homes – we need our existing homes safe for the families living in them. We're on track to certify another 200 units of housing to make sure that they are free of lead poisoning, and after winning a new grant that further invests in this work, will be giving our residents even more resources and opportunities that support safer, healthier housing.

Improved Government and Quality of Life

It's been more than a decade since we thoroughly reviewed our city governance structure to ensure it supports our 21st century needs. I am launching a Charter Review Commission this year, with proposed amendments to the Charter to be approved by voters during the special fall election.

As we think about city government, it's no secret that my vision for Central Falls has included a revived community center that truly puts constituent services front and center. This budget proudly invests in El Centro, our new one-stop community center for residents, which is well on its way to becoming reality. Our architect is hard at work designing this Broad Street space, with construction starting later this year. At El Centro, residents will easily access a wide-range of services, spearheaded by our Office of Constituent Services and Health. From mental and behavioral health needs, to housing and food security, to senior and youth services, and more, I'm looking forward to announcing our participating service partners soon.

An Accessible, Affordable, Sustainable Future

As more residents choose to live here, I want to do all we can to make this city more accessible and affordable. I'm proud to share we are expanding our partnership with the Rhode Island Public Transit Authority to continue our successful free starting ride pilot program through this summer, and widening its reach to include our new Pawtucket-Central Falls Transit Center. Beyond bolstering use of public transportation, other efforts to help make the cost of living more affordable have made a big impact, like our campaign to rollout the Affordable Connectivity Program – now being replicated in other communities – which successfully connected more than 70% of eligible households to the internet, making us number one in the state, and our community electricity aggregation program, which is bringing cleaner, cheaper electricity to residents.

These efforts are an important part of creating a more sustainable future for Central Falls. This budget also invests in our city's first Sustainability Officer – part of our 2023 Climate Action Plan – that works to build a more resilient future for us all.

And as we support our environment, our parks and outdoor recreational spaces are a big part of that. We'll be opening our new basketball court at High Street, our renovations to Jenks Park will commence, our exciting Phillip Street Community Garden will officially open this year, and so will our new beautifully-renovated Garfield Street Park for families to enjoy. These have been made possible thanks to outstanding relationships we've established with community partners.

All around our city, we'll be planning much-needed road and sidewalk repairs that this budget invests in, with matching funds thanks to the state's Municipal Road Fund Program.

A Safer City

I'm pleased to share that our city is even safer than last year – with crime already down 25% in 2023. And while our overall crime and violent crime rates are consistently the lowest they've been in decades, I want to do more to proactively protect our families. From new layers to our Safer Streets Program, like the rollout of red light cameras and additional speed bumps, to new body cameras for our every patrol officer thanks to state and federal funds, to the investment in security cameras in our parks, we are taking steps forward that better protect every resident.

Along with our Police Department, our Fire Department has also been a big part of keeping our community safe. I'm thrilled they will finally be receiving a new fire engine truck this year, thanks to our federal delegation.

I am proud to share another investment this budget makes: the re-launching of our Central Falls Domestic Violence Task Force. I believe it's incredibly important that we prioritize education and outreach around this life-saving, not-talked-about-enough topic, including to our middle and high school students. Conversations on healthy relationships, communication, and safety should be commonplace, and I'm proud of this investment.

Youth and Education

As we think about youth services, we now have many synchronized initiatives efforts to support this work. Thanks to a grant by the Department of Education, we have a new citywide afterschool program coordinator for organized out-of-classroom learning, while we continue to advance summer opportunities that keep our youth engaged and safe, like our new Youth Career Empowerment Summer Program that gives students hands-on learning and mentorship in their desired career fields. We will also be expanding our nationally-recognized Leading Ladies Initiative, which gives unprecedented leadership empowerment to future generations. We also continue to invest in Central Falls Public Library and hope to strengthen our partnerships with their programming.

It's no secret that education in Central Falls has been a topic of conversation as we make big strides forward. We're breaking ground on our highly-anticipated new High School this year, investing in the significant improvements at Calcutt Middle School, and planning for amazing facilities upgrades at all of our other school buildings. Recently, we engaged our community around the opportunity to serve on the Central Falls Board of Trustees to govern our schools. This is a vital time for education in our city, and we will continue working to involve our students, teachers, parents, and residents in changes and improvements ahead.

Fiscally Responsible

When I took office, I knew our city's relatively small budget would be a challenge. With so many critical services and residents, every dollar counts! I am proud that this fiscally responsible budget contains strategic, shared services – like continuing to share a joint Planning Commission, a Code Enforcement and Building official with Pawtucket (saving $60,000) and a new decision to share Human Resources with North Providence (saving $30,000). Furthermore, we've increased strategic community partnerships that can help fill the gaps of support that help our community in specific ways, like helping secure $1 million in funding for Jenks Parks Pediatrics from the Papitto Foundation that directly aides the evolving health needs of our community, to a partnership with the Housing Authority to provide exciting programming for our seniors, to the Elisha Project to help address families facing food insecurity.

Business Friendly

I want Central Falls to become a leading city where more businesses choose to open their doors and grow. This budget continues the investment in our new Small Business and Workforce Coordinator position, who not only connects our businesses with key resources and programs, but supports our local workforce by organizing helpful job fairs and engagement with employers. We'll continue to support our business community this way, and I am proud to share that this business-friendly budget provides a new $20,000 exemption on tangible property, and includes no increase in our commercial tax rate. I look forward to all the exiting ways we will continue to celebrate our businesses in the months ahead, like one of my favorite times of the year: Central Falls Restaurant Week!

Looking ahead to other exciting events, thanks to our hard-working team, gracious grant funding, and continued budget investments in our amazing departments like Parks and Recreation, we have an exciting line up of events for our residents, from our two beloved Salsa Nights, to our Food Truck Festival, to our Summer Basketball League, to our fun Youth Kayak Program, to our Jazz Nights, and so much more.

I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to our city department leaders and staff, who have stayed committed to our Administration's mission to progress our city forward, and provide programs and services that are accessible, a community that is safe and engaging, and a city that helps families from all backgrounds thrive.

Members of the Council, thank you for your partnership in this work. Respectfully, I urge you to pass the FY2024 City of Central Falls budget ordinances to keep our city on a successful, responsible path forward.

Sincerely,

Maria Rivera
